Dear All,

The warmth of the sun is getting back and adding to the warmth that I felt from each other during last general meetings. It comforts the idea that whatever we do, as 'ook_', should be fine enough. What I appreciate is that everyone likes to engage an support from what each of us already do and are. I learned to understand that better. Of course I myself doubt and learn to position 'ook_' inside an art production that documenta only can be for now. Still documenta defines the agenda and to use it as a proper tool is still an exercice but the most important aspect. 'Passing the mic', 'inhabited space', 'first visitors', 'neighbouring' are terms I have been thinking of. There is also constant explanation needed to give insight in the many circles of initiators involved in the project. The shrine as a starting point is not just about a shrine but about how we like to organise, to be represent- ed, it is never a simple project or concept.

There is always so much I want to share with you and want to let you share in the general meetings but we can only do 10% of what is planned. It's ok and part of the way we want to go with this documenta. We don't want it to be extracting too much energy and want to use it as a tool to build and connect. 'Caracoles' said Camilo to me, 'it's the zapatistas term for assembly and could be translated as going slow'. Go slow to learn to be as much 'gastgeber' as 'gastnehmer'.
