... ehh, and how are we gonna continue this after ?

For TTW, this experience is, above all, a meaningful learning process. First, discovering how to harvest knowledge — we are still on the way — and secondly, actively witnessing the organization and the collectively open mechanism of decision making.

On learning how to harvest

In February 2022, Tropical Tap Water (TTW) was invited to harvest during the regular meetings of the Lumbung Kios working group.

In this poster, we have assembled a collection of the visual harvesting we did, which is presented as an ordered yet unchronological collage, with material gathered between February and June 2022.

There are graphic notes from what was discussed in Lumbung Kios, with some unexpected revelations that we had while drawing during the many conversations.
